

Online technical training with Gotschlich

We now expand our services and offer online technical trainings, aiming to secure constant support for new and existing business partners!

Before Covid-19 Gotschlich invited business partners to technical training at headquarters in Vienna and in Carinthia.

We will resume to personal trainings in our factories once this pandemia is defeated.

Our goal is to support customers with technical trainings and updates, if requested. It is for this reason that we decided to go „online“ with immediate effect.

Who can participate?

In case you are already Gotschlich business partner, we offer you a technical refresh and updates.

Are you brand new? We organise a technical training according to your needs and questions.

What does Gotschlich offer?

A technical training programme is defined by Gotschlich and its content is related to the type of products commercialised by our business partner.

Tailor-made technical training can be also arranged and will be agreed between both companies.

Our technical trainings are of course free-of-charge.
